A new small town square in a garden-city context, with residential flats on top of commercial premises.

The east side of the square is more commercial, with shops, cafés and a restaurant on the ground floors, with flats on the first and second floors. The flats surround a terraced yard with sheds and sitting areas. The terraces can be reached by lifts from the houses and via external stairs directly from the square. The square also contains a water sculpture and pond. The adjoining blocks are purely residential with smaller houses.

The project consists of 90 flats, ranging from studios to three bedroom flats and small family houses, and 3000 sqm of commercial use.
